BRITISH COLUMBIA MARRIAGE REGISTRATIONS AND THIS BOOK

The year following the entry of British Columbia into Canadian Confederation, namely 1872, the BC government began legal reception of Birth, Marriage and Death Registrations. At the same time exclusion to this law was granted to people of the Oriental races—Chinese and Canadian Indians. In fact, 19th century Indian Marriages were not made inclusive into registrations until post-1916. Those unions do not appear in this book. Some Chinese records are given but only because they were ‘accidentally’ received as a main registration.

This edition is concerned with recording the main marriages considered in the 19th century to be registrations. It takes from online digital images made from earlier microfilming undertaken by the Genealogical Society of Utah. This task was accomplished following a 1993 agreement with the BC Division of Vital Statistics.

The Registrations cataloged below lead a rich source of information for genealogists and social statisticians as they often include details such as age, residence, occupation and parents’ names of marrying persons.

What The Marriage Index Entries Contain

- This edition is a rudimentary guide leading researchers to original early marriage registrations of Confederate British Columbia.
- Excluded from the work are all marriages (1872-1900) not officially registered until after 1900 including Indian Marriages.
- Marriage registrations for this time period are a valuable source of information for researchers as they provide details such as age, residence, occupation, and parent's names of a marrying couple.
- Over 5,000 nuptials are listed herein.
- This edition features a masculine indexing order.
- Marrying persons inscribed below are identified by the ampersand [&] symbol.
- Names are ordered by surname followed by first/given names.
- Middle names of persons are not compulsory to this index.
- Attempts are made to follow the integrity of the original spelling of names with exception of the first letter of a name which appears capitalized herein.
- This index uses soundex to 'bunch' surname variants and possible unique spellings (i.e. Cmithe, Smythe for Smith).
- The date of marriage is written in short form. However, some registrations do not contain year dates and those entries will be dated in long form (e.g. 'November 5th').
- From 1872 to 1897 there was no clear designation for "Place of Marriage" on forms. Many wedding places were recorded in the "Remarks" entry at the bottom of the form. A few places were 'inked in' on the 'Date of Marriage' line by submitters. Some from these two examples are inscribed below. But most are not. Even after a 'Place of Marriage' line was added to some forms submitted from 1897 onwards, many unfortunately were returned with the 'Place' line remaining blank.

- Index entries are referenced to the tables below which give the online source where a digital copy of a marriage registration may be viewed. Sources are BC MGS 01, BC MGS 02, and BC MGS 03. BC MGS stands for British Columbia Marriage Registrations. These sources are found in this index encased by curly braces {}.
- FamilySearch.org contains the original digitizations from earlier microfilmings of the original registrations. FamilySearch.org is a.k.a. The Genealogical Society of Utah and The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (LDS).
